

Women in Security, Conflict Management and Peace
an initiative of

The Foundation for Universal Responsibility of HH The Dalai Lama invites applications for a

South Asian Peacebuilding Workshop

titled

Enriching Democratic Practice in South Asia: Possibilities from the Field of Peacebuilding

October 30 – 31, 2010
New Delhi

The two-day South Asian Peacebuilding Workshop seeks to empower youth leaders from the region with the skills and expertise to contribute to conflict prevention, resolution and transformation efforts. The focus will be on the ways in which the field of Peacebuilding, which embraces the above frameworks, can contribute to strengthening and enriching the contours of democracy in the countries of the South Asian region.

Who can apply: The Workshop is open to women and men (in the age group of 21 to 35 years) from the countries of the South Asian region (Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka).

To apply: Applicants should send a CV and a 500-800-word essay explaining why they are interested in participating, what they hope to learn from the Workshop, and how they will use this learning in their work.

Application deadline is September 20th, 2010. Applications can be mailed to wiscomp.ctprogramme@gmail.com or posted to the following address:

CT Programme, WISCOMP
Foundation for Universal Responsibility
Of HH The Dalai Lama
Upper Ground Floor, Core 4 A, India Habitat Centre
Lodhi Road
New Delhi – 110003, India
Ph: 91-11-24648450, ext. 105/106
Website: www.wiscomp.org